MUSEUMS

Stop by Sam Houston Memorial Museum for interesting facts

Other than Huntsville being known for piney woods and rolling hills of East Texas, this little city is also famous because of General Sam Houston. Known for living in Huntsville on many occasions, the best place to learn about General Sam Houston – considered one of the greatest Texans who have ever lived – is at Sam Houston Memorial Museum in Huntsville. The museum is filled with artifacts and lessons on every chapter of his life. At the back of the museum, you'll find Woodland home that was built by Houston where his family lived, and a Steamboat House where he was found dead. For exciting things to do around Huntsville, check this place out!

See prison artifacts at Texas Prison Museum

Do you want to know what went about behind the scenes or how Texas prison system worked? Now, you can learn all about it at the Texas Prison Museum. The museum features exhibits that include the Texas Prison Rodeo, also known as Wildest Show Behind Bars and the infamous American criminals, Bonnie and Clyde. While walking around the prison, you will get to understand or feel how the inmates lived behind the fenced walls of the prison. It is a feeling unlike any other you may imagine. Texas Prison Museum should most definitely be on your must-see list.

Gibbs Powell Home Museum

The Gibbs-Powell Home , also known as the Walker County Historical Museum, was built in 1862 by Thomas Gibbs, an early Huntsville businessman. It is built in the Greek Revival style popular in Huntsville and in the South at that time. The Gibbs family was often visited at the home by personal friend Sam Houston. The house has been the home to several generations of Gibbs and Powell families. Female boarders attending Sam Houston Normal Institute in the Nineteenth Century roomed upstairs.

Through the interest of Judge and Mrs. Ben H. Powell III, this home has remained unchanged, and the interior as well as the furniture and furnishings were preserved to be used as a museum.

The house is both a Texas Archaeological Landmark and a recorded Texas Historical Landmark and is operated by the Walker County Historical Commission as a county museum. Furniture, furnishings, books, newspapers, and documents have also been donated by other local families to help accentuate the atmosphere of a gracious family home.

Big Sam Statue Visitor Center

A visit to the world's tallest statue of an American hero offers a great perspective of Huntsville. A tribute to courage, the Sam Houston Statue was designed and constructed by artist David Adickes. He dedicated the statue to the City of Huntsville on October 22, 1994. It is the world's tallest statue of an American Hero at 67 feet tall on a 10-foot sunset granite base.
