Here is the info on the couple of show and tell items we find to be time/space saving conveniences.

This is the model I have. You can get it about $14 cheaper minus the cup and carrying case.

Super tiny and convenient for any use

Best price and pack size! Use in your camper and at home.

Road Trip Meal Planning

Travel day (driving only, A to B, longer day, quick overnight stop, need to make tracks, leaving 8am)
Breakfast ideas (use paper plates so fast clean up, no cook): yogurt/granola/fruit, hard boiled eggs, egg muffin cups, cereal, can do smoothies but could have some clean up
Lunch (again use paper for easy clean up, no cook): sandwiches, veggie tray, easy fruit Dinner (think easy to cook and clean but you have a bit more time, could be boondocking so limit water and electrical usage): whatever you like

Short travel day (still A to B but you can leave later say 10 or 11am)
Breakfast: you can cook or think easy continental like early travel day
Lunch: same as travel day or stop at a local restaurant
Dinner: same as travel day or stop at a local restaurant

Staying for two or more days

Do whatever you want, you've got the time!

Our advice for any long road trips, think about where you'll be stopping and what you have available to make/cook/clean meals to make your trip a little less hassle free.

See you on the road!
