November 2024

What a great extended weekend for our Wigwam rally with the weather improving every day. Did we ever eat and tell stories around the campfire while listening to Coyotes and owls in the distance, along with an occasional yelp from a beagle and odd noises coming from someone's Parrott. Thursday evening started with some incredible appetizers that rolled into lasagna and salad then about 8 different desserts appeared. (You knew this weekend was going to be disastrous to your diet) Friday was a beautiful day with some teambuilding cornhole, cards, and the occasional Airstream issue that is always a challenge. On the agenda for some of us was Moore Farms Botanical Garden that never disappoints, Ron was just so fascinated by the toilet 🚽. He said it used very little water but flushed so violently, "it was incredible" 😄 Some made it to the original Scott's BBQ in Hemingway while some were escorted by Luke to Backwoods Hunt Club for highfalutin shotgun destruction of clay birds (Always a great time). Let's not forget Elaine Tanner's excellent history lesson on Indiantown, its churches and surrounding area. It's always a joy to learn about an area from a local who's so passionate about it. What a treat!

Ok, back to the food. Johnny's 6-gallon cast iron wash tub Chicken Perloo was a trip! True story, Mr. Tanner was going to town on the Wash tub cooking pot and he jumps up and says oh no, I forgot something! We were like OMG what did you forget? Johnny says a DRINK, you can't cook Perloo without a drink in this hand. Then he returns with a dark drink and says, "Boys this is going to be Damn Good NOW!" 😄

Saturday's breakfast was another gut buster, eggs, pancakes, sausage, pastries and I almost forgot about Charlette's over the top Bloody Mary Bar along with Tina's Mimosas.

Saturday evening was pulled pork along with Scotty's perfectly grilled chicken with catered sides along with another dozen deserts.

Each one of you made this a great memorable weekend full of wonderful Lowcountry Airstream fellowship.

Look forward to our Christmas Rally at Huntington Beach State Park next month.
