

Corning Window Curved Glass Replacement

I own a 1967 Airstream and I need replacement windows for my Safari but I have been told they are no longer available. Now what?

If you own a 1966, 1967 or 1968 Airstream, you have the Corning curved frameless windows, the feature that sets them apart from earlier model Airstreams.

Airstream used the windows for only three years and replacement glass was not easily obtainable.

Vintage Airstream owners replaced their broken windows with flat flexible plastic that scratches, gets cloudy and does not seal very well at the bottom.

Most people believe they are not available but this is not true, Airstream has replacement windows and have been selling them for many years.

You can call the Airstream Parts Department in Jackson Center for a list of Dealers carrying the windows and what sizes are available.
